A few more things to know.

Recording options and preferences.

If you like to have things your own way, you're in luck. Multi-Room DVR gives you the ability to customize your recordings. While you're recording a program you can change these options:

- Recording episodes: We know how important it is to keep up with your favorite series and to check out the one everyone's raving about. With "Record", you can simply choose "This episode only" or a "Series". When you select "Series", you'll be asked how many episodes to save. It's also easy for you to choose which types of episodes to record. This preference is currently set to "All new and repeat episodes".
- Picture formats: You'll be able to set your recording options (or "Playback") based on the types of TVs you have. HDTVs can play back in either HD or SD, while non-HDTVs can only play back in SD.
- Storage space: We know there are a ton of great programs to watch. Your storage space (or "Keep") is set to "14 days" so any recordings are deleted after that time to make room for new ones. But you can adjust the number of days and delete shows anytime you want.
- Start and stop times: Is the game heading into overtime? Right now, "Start" and "Stop" times are both set to "On time" and are matched to the program guide's schedule. You can always adjust the times to your preference, so you'll never miss a second of the game.

You can also personalize your Multi-Room DVR experience for future recordings. To set up your default preferences, press DVR on your remote, highlight "Preferences" on the right-hand menu and press SEL. A list of options will appear that can be customized and set as defaults for your series or individual programs.

Multi-Room DVR on a single-room DVR cable box.

If you have a single-room DVR cable box, pressing DVR on your remote only brings up recordings stored on that specific box and not those for your Multi-Room DVR. Tune to Channel 1001 instead to access your Multi-Room DVR recordings. You'll know you have single-room DVR if you have a silver Scientific Atlanta cable box.
